- (y) Special Instruction # 1 granted/denied

The evidence introduced in this trial indicates that some of the eyewitnesses to the killing of _____ have not been produced by either party. The jury should not draw any inference adverse to either party as a result of the parties' failure to produce those eyewitnesses at this trial.

- (z) Special Instruction # 2 granted/denied

If you were to find that Matthew Ebo and/or Thaddeus Crumbley went looking for victim, Todd Mattox with a criminal intent, expecting that such confrontation may necessitate the victim to use his gun, neither defendant can now claim self defense as to the charge of Second Degree Murder.

To analogize to a classical case, if a man goes into a marketplace in order to hold up the proprietor at gunpoint, such a man is committing a felony at that time. He knows that the danger of having to defend himself exists. Under those circumstances, he has no right to claim self defense because he set the moving factors into being, creating the dangerous situation.

Commonwealth v. Franklin, 265 A.2d 361 (Pa. 1970).

(aa) Special Instruction # 2 granted/denied

As to each defendant, you have the right to bring in a verdict and find the defendant not guilty, or find him guilty of one of three types of homicide. So you will begin with the first charge of criminal homicide, murder in the first degree, and make a finding as to whether the Defendant is guilty or not guilty of that charge. If you find him guilty, then you need go no further, and need not consider murder of the second degree or murder of the third degree. However, if you find the Defendant is not guilty of first degree murder, then you would go on to consider murder of the second degree. If you find him guilty of murder of the second degree, then you need go no further, and need not consider murder of the third degree. However, if you find that the defendant is not guilty of first or second degree murder, then you would go on to consider murder of the third degree.

Respectfully submitted,

STEPHEN A. ZAPPALA, JR.
DISTRICT ATTORNEY
